Edmonton West Member Given Ottawa Honors

By THOMAS WATLING
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
OTTAWA, Jan. 23.—James A. MacKinnon, M.P. for Edmonton West, was today appointed minister without portfolio in the Mackenzie King government. Word of the appointment was made public shortly after the adjournment of a meeting of the cabinet.

MackKinnon In Cabinet

The last representative of Alberta in a federal cabinet was Hon. Charles Stewart, former premier of the province, who was minister of the interior. Prior to that Hon. Frank Oliver was for many years an Alberta representative in the cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

James Angus MacKinnon was born on October 4, 1881, at Port Elgin, Ontario, the son of James MacKinnon and Margaret Tolmie, his wife, both Scotch. The new minister was educated at Port Elgin and Kincardine, Ontario, and came west to work for The Edmonton Bulletin as business manager in 1902.

On June 28, 1911, he was married to A. Irene Sharp, daughter of John Sharp of Summerdale, P. M. He has one daughter, Kellie, at present in Ottawa with her mother.

Keenly interested in the business and community life of Edmonton, Hon. Mr. MacKinnon has been associated with the activities of the Alberta Club and has been president of the Edmonton Bursar Club and the Edmonton Highlands Gaiety Association.

In Edmonton the minister lives at 4020 St. George's Crescent, and at the present time his house is occupied by Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Brown.

Although active in politics for years Mr. MacKinnon did not enter the political life personally until 1915 when he was returned as member for West Edmonton. He is a member of the First Presbyterian church congregation of this city.

Last step in the plant's expansion is installation of a 1,500 kilowatt steam turbine generator, costing $250,000, which Supl. B. G. Watson reported to commissioners he would have running by the end of February.

CITY PAYS $2,000

The present stand-by agreement with the Calgary Power Company has been in effect since November 1, 1937, and during that time it has been in effect the city has paid $2,000 a month as "power insurance." When the agreement is terminated, $2,000 more will have been paid, provided there is no breakdown meantime.

On council's agenda for Monday night is a letter from the Federation of Community Leaders asking

DELAIR BEACH, N.Y., Jan. 23.—"It's O'Neil is wondering just what to do about an eight-penny nail in his neck. It has been in bed there for nearly 50 years, he said, and a surgeon recently decided to extract it because of possible injury to important nerves. His discovery was made during a physical examination. O'Neil doesn't remember when it became interbedded in his body."

CRIPPS RISKS EXPULSION BY LABOR PARTY

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Sir Stafford Cripps, privy councillor, member of the Labor Party, has risked his political future in an effort to persuade the rank and file of the Socialist movement to veto the compromising opposition of the party leaders to a popular front against the Chamberlain government.

Police believe the younger son of Lord Parmoor has risked expulsion from the Labor Party to champion causes which the executive committee has refused to support. The younger son of Lord Parmoor in Canada, has turned down this time he may not get away with it.

Police believe the Manchester movement has been apocalyptic movements to remanifest the anti-government vote. But they ended nowhere largely because the Labor Party executive would not co-operate in a progressive movement.

MEMBERS TO SPEND WEEK OVER DEBATE

Hon. Norman Rogers Will Defend Unemployment Policy

OTTAWA, Jan. 23.—House of Commons members prepared today to spend at least this week in the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne. A vote is expected Friday or early next week.

Today's house will hear Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor, defend the government's unemployment policy and its administration against attacks voiced by opposition members in the debate since last week.

Other ministers may join the debate later and speakers will have long lists of speakers who wish to take part. More may add their names as the week progresses if the debate becomes heated.

FAVORITE SUBJECT

Among Ottawa's members a favorite subject of conversation is the question of who will be the new postmaster-general. Prime Minister Mackenzie King has asked the 96 members of the cabinet to indicate their choice for the post.

Hon. C. Elliott, member for Middle West, is the present postmaster-general, but ill health has prevented him from carrying out his duties for several months and it is reported he will retire from the cabinet soon.

The belief is a successor will be chosen from a list of names in central or western Ontario and among those prominently mentioned are Ross W. Gray, Lamoignon and W. P. Mulock, North York and R. J. Deschamps, North Huron.

Announcement today of returning officers for 288 of the 343 federal constituencies may confirm many members in their belief a general election will be held this fall rather than next spring. But officials explain that returning officers must be appointed at this time, election or not, and that the announcement will be of political significance.

ELECTION THIS FALL?

However, most members believe the election will take place this fall. With that in mind it is likely they will take more part in debates this autumn, lengthening the season so it will be completed before the arrival of the King and Queen in Canada, May 15.

If the members are not through their work then a recess of one month will be taken when the Majesties are in Canada and their members will return to Ottawa to resume their business after the royal couple return to England.

Post Office At Peace River Is Near Completion

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

PEACE RIVER, Alta., Jan. 23.—New post office building will be finally completed today and Alex McPherson, foreman in charge, said the building will be ready for the arrival of the King and Queen in Canada, May 15.

The building is an imposing structure, and the only regret most members have is that it is not on an inside lot, out of line with the main street buildings and cannot be seen except for a short distance across the street.

Japan Proposes For Budget Sufficient to Fight Both China-Russia

By H. O. THOMPSON

TOKYO, Jan. 23.—Army authorities have completed supplementary budget estimates totaling $1,382,500,000 (B) for submission to the Diet today, under a program which visualizes the possibility of joint operations against China and Russia.

Newspapers called it a "two front" budget because of the report of necessity, in the midst of a recent, to prepare for simultaneous military campaigns against the Soviet Union and China.

The army estimates already have been submitted to the finance ministry, it was understood, and will be presented to the Diet or parliament at the new session beginning tomorrow, after the minister's approval.

STUPENDOUS FUNDS
How stupendous the estimates really are was shown by comparison with the regular budget, which totals $1,000,000,000—including many items of military nature such as arms, transport, and aircraft. It was, however, not without its share of war-time military expenditure, and was very large.

The huge military preparations were necessary both because of China and Manchuria and because of the increased armaments of Great Britain and Russia.

PUSSYWILLOWS MAY MARK END COLD WEATHER

"It's a little early for pussy-willows" said Chris Soudy, 18, of 1041 106th avenue, when he telephoned "The Bulletin" today.

"I certainly do," the editor said. "Well, I found some on Thursday afternoon when I was walking in Bonnie Doon," continued Chris, "and I brought a branch home with me. There are a lot of them on trees over here" he drove up, Edmontonians, the worst of the winter may be over.

SANDYS QUILTS AS LEADER OF REBEL TORIES

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Duncan Sandys, Conservative member of parliament, and son-in-law of Winston Churchill, Sunday resigned as chairman of the House of Commons political group of rebel Tories who seek to ginger up the government's opposition to the Chamberlain government.

The Duchess of Athol, former Conservative M.P., who recently failed of re-election as an Independent in a Scottish constituency, will occupy the post of acting chairman of the organization which rails itself "The Hundred Thousand."

The official explanation was that Sandys' resignation would permit appointment of a chairman free from party ties and would emphasize the non-party character of the organization.

Make These Smart Curtains at Home

If you've worn the same shade of lipstick, rouge and nail polish since last fall, by all means decide to make a change now. Rich, dark eye-liner and bold, bright lipstick will give you a new look. It's a mistake to allow the mauve tones with a print which has a great deal of the lavender or purple shades in it.

To enhance further the streamlined, sophisticated smart look, a black dress with white touches can give you, dress up lips and nails with the clearest, brightest, scarlet lipstick and lacquer you can find. Or, if you're wearing dark and clear reds all along, do a complete about face with creamy, dusty rose or pale mauve-lavenderish pink lip rouge and polish. It's a mistake to allow yourself to get into a rut. You wouldn't buy the same dress year after year, would you? Then why go on wearing the same shade of makeup year after year?

Changing your hair style is another excellent way to bolster your lagging spirit. If you are pretty weary of your updo, how about having your hair cut in a new style and wearing it in soft little ringlets all over your head? A long bob might very well be exchanged for a shorter version or for a modified updo.

Strive for a translucent-looking complexion. If you've been using stick to your dark russet powder, switch your coat of tan-faced powder. A long bob might very well be exchanged for a shorter version or for a modified updo.

Raising A Family - By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Recently some guests at my house were asking about problems in child training. I knew them to be experienced parents with broad understanding and a natural instinct for values. So I suddenly said, "Child training is a science. I don't like the word 'science' because I could only explain it as a science as others were arriving. So I said, 'I am going to explain it as a science, but I did mean an idealism, an idealism or a philosophy, which you prefer.'"

O. R. Barton: "I am going to explain it as a science, but I did mean an idealism, an idealism or a philosophy, which you prefer."

Citrus Fruits Supply Plenty of Vitamin C

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

There will be almost as many oranges this year as snowflakes. The same for grapefruit. America's all-time record grapefruit and orange crops are rolling to market. And the quality is top notch.

Select citrus fruits that are firm and heavy for their size and have smooth thin skins. The best grapefruit are well shaped and sprightly. The best oranges are waxy or flabby. They are never soft. They have fine textured skin. Incidentally, the brown or russet coloring found on the surface of many citrus fruits does not affect the flavor, sweetness or food value.

A heavy orange or grapefruit is full of juice. A pound of oranges makes a cup of juice. It is a rough rule that usually works. Some oranges are trying out the idea of selling oranges by weight. To keep oranges, store at temperature just above freezing. Grapefruit keep best at about 50 degrees F.

These citrus fruits are treasures of Vitamin C. Half a cup of juice will assure you of a large part of your daily requirement of C.

CITRUS MARMALADE

One grapefruit, 3 oranges, 3 lemons, sugar.

Cut fruit into halves, remove seeds and slice into small pieces. Measure fruit and juice and add three times as much sugar.

Soak fruit for 12 hours. Boil it for 20 minutes. Stand for another 12 hours.

For every cup of fruit and juice add 4 cups sugar. Cook these ingredients in small quantities from 4 to 6 cups, at a time, until they are thick and sticky.

To test, place a small amount of marmalade in a spoon, cool slightly, and then drop back into the water. If it floats, it is done.

Place at once in sterilized jars. Seal when cool.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, scrambled eggs and toast, oatmeal.

LUNCHEON: Red kidney beans, whole wheat bread, milk.

DINNER: Pot roast with vegetables, beef cream gravy, noodle, green beans, lettuce and grapefruit.

For a cold, coffee milk.

Send a line here and there from the city of Berkeley, and you will find it a boy or girl for whom it was a pleasure to write.

AVOID RISKY IDEAS

Like the tale of the blind men and an elephant, who kept a "measuring tape" for the purpose of measuring the size of the elephant, a man was measured by the foot.

By reading and learning more about children and their needs, you will be able to do them in doing better.

But I should care thinking about my family as something individual. Even the big size of the psychological field change their minds.

A sense of fairness, a feeling of being to share work and responsibility, and lots of fun in the family, these are the things that will do wonders with almost any child. He needs a warm, happy home to overcome. He will learn a lot from example and still more from experience.

Dorothy Dix Says:

A WOMAN asks this question: "Why can't I get a husband? I love my husband and I am typical of the great majority of married women," she goes on to say. "I am a mother of three children. When I was first married I was so much in love with my husband I could pass a perfect husband every evening just sitting looking at him and he would read the newspaper. I enjoyed nothing more than spending hours preparing him the things he liked to eat. I got a kick out of being a bait to him and handing him his clothes as he got out of bed. If he noticed what I was doing or not. And my blood boiled if he even so much as looked at another woman."

"Now when I look at him as he sits opposite me at an evening, only notice how fat and bald he has got, and how tired I am of waiting till he tells me what he wants. I don't bother to cook extra dishes for him. I have quit buying him clothes for him for I say to myself, 'He knows where they are and it is just as well to get them as I am. And as for jealousy of other women who may have him, I see America' for his private secretary for all I care."

"Probably most middle-aged married couples—husbands and wives alike—feel this way about marriage. They have gone through the honeymoon and lost its savor for them. They think that they have reached a state of such indifference that they have lost their taste for bread-and-butter domesticity."

This state of mind is easily explained. It is the reaction to the high-pressure romance of courtship and the honeymoon of passion. But the husband and wife find that they no longer have been in love and fevers at the sound of each other's footsteps.

The shining pages of thanksgiving when they face each other have been replaced by a dull, unexciting life. They are bound to live each other's life, and it is just as well to get them as I am. And as for jealousy of other women who may have him, I see America' for his private secretary for all I care."

Looking Them Over

Grid Meet

W hile at least it is delightful hockey weather, Jan. 23, the general meeting of the Western Football Conference at Regina over the weekend did not produce any surprises. The 1939 season for big time football on the prairies remains the same as last season despite some persistent rumors that the old time game would be forced with a heavy financial deficit this year, result, of it dropping from its conference. Apparently all four clubs are ready for another year.

And generally will agree that the conference did the right thing in deciding to play twice around the circuit instead of filling up idle dates with exhibition games. Critics from the United States failed badly as traveling cards in Calgary, Regina and Winnipeg. Edmontonians also would have liked at least one more visit from Winnipeg and Regina last fall. Starting the schedule on August 23 is another move that will meet with the approval of all western fans.

The announcement that the conference is prepared "to meet the extra income means more than half-way" on the matter of the Edmonton football grounds remains a fact a question through to the end of the summer conference are given. The main chunk of dough Winnipeg picked up at Toronto last fall would have anything to do with the decision, would it go to half way to meet the east? To go any farther something that football men shouldn't have in their western. The main question that even if last year's loss in Toronto was a winning a percentage of losses, it also gives Angus the biggest gale of the entire season. Half way is plenty for enough to go toward paying out differences with the east. The Edmontonians now are in a better position than last year.
